

Next Gen Tequila Tasting November 16th

The Next Gen Tequila Tasting held on November 16 at the Kitchen Sync was a memorable evening that blended education, networking and a tequila tasting experience.

The evening kicked off with a presentation by Kyle Molotkin, Chief Executive Officer of Informanix, who shared his experience on "Real World Ransomware Attacks." Kyle provided insights into attack vectors, effective response strategies, and the dynamics of working with internal IT staff and negotiating with attackers.

Following Kyle's presentation, Cory Ball, the past chair of the Next Gen Advisory Council and current MCAM Board Member, provided an overview of how his involvement with MCAM Next Gen has positively impacted his career growth and industry involvement.

The highlight of the evening was the tequila and mezcal tasting curated by sommelier Darren Raeside. Guests had the opportunity to savour six hand-picked tequila varieties including blanco, reposado, and añejo. Darren discussed the production processes of tequila, and the differences behind each variety.

Complementing the spirits, guests indulged in a Mexican-style feast featuring smoked meats, corn tortillas, fresh salads, and a selection of homemade salsa and sauces.
